

Aerospace Defense Industry Research

Morose, Gregory

For the past 5 years TURI has worked with a consortium consisting of aerospace defense companies and government agencies such as Army, Navy, Air Force, and NASA to evaluate alternatives to materials containing hexavalent chromium. The consortium has identified safer alternatives for primers and sealants, and is now investigating safer alternatives for structural adhesive primer materials.